During last Fall and Winter I was obliged to suspend the mest of my labor in my field of Home Missionary work, on account of my health. Early this Spring I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator, and have had more real good health than for years before. bid the state grange welcome to the state capitod, inasmuch as agriculture is by far the chiefest industry of the state. He alluded to the fact that in the earlier days of the republic agriculture was the the most profitable industry of the country, but now it was the least profitable. He attributes its present condition to vicious class lerislation of congress, which had always been adverse to the farmer. He quoted figures from the last census, showing that with more than $1,000,000,000 invested in agriculture the yearly products amounted to a little more than $2,00,000,000, while with less than $3,00,000,000 invested in manufactures, yearly products amounted to more than $3,000,000,000 invested in manufactures, yearly products amounted to more than $3,000,000,000, and that the average profit of farming was only 12 per cent, on the capital horested, while the profit of manufacturing exceeded so per cent. He attributes the contractive of the farmer and put it into they from the pocket of the farmer and put it into they from the profit of the manufacturer. He said that while the board. Lacturer was protected by law from the competition of chesp labor, the farmer land to sell his wheat in competition with such chesp labor. He alluded to the great wrong perpetrated by the federal government, a wrong unparalleled in all history, of collecting its taxes from industry unstead of from the wealth of the country, and declared that fainers should unite with the laboring mon in demanding a graduated uncome tax, by which he wealth of the country would be compelled to add in bearing the burden of taxation.

THE TRENCH CROWN JEWELS

Our dispatches say that the sale of the French frown jewels has been completed. It was Francis L, rival of Charles V, king of Spain and emperor of Germany, who began the collection of this treasure. Down to the revolution the jewels were bequenthed to succeeding monarchs of France They came into pissesion of hapeleon, and Marie Louisa carried them away in 1814 Soon afterwards they were recovered by Louis XVIII., who in turn carried them away when Napoleon re-appeared. After the second restoration they remained in France till the fall of the last empire, when they were agant taken away, but were recovered to the reand emperor of Germany, who began the collecagain taken away, but were restored to the re-public in 1875. The republic has now sold them, not desiring to keep costly baub'es, which are but the insignia of toyalty France puts away from her this inheritance of the royal past,—a peat in which glory, sham, oppression and suffering are blended, as in the history of no other nation. Nearly sixty thousand bril-lants have been sold, and the proceeds are about $1,550,600

THE LANSDON NE HOUSE

The founder of the hou e of Lan d was was one Wm Petr, the son of a latin award was one Wm Petr, the son of a glothier, born in humble circumstances in Humpeline in 1623. He went to London, where he was a long time in very reduced circumstances, tried a seaturing life, was assemnt in dissections at a medical college at Pare, and "turned his hand" to whatever he could Finally he began to accumulate a little money, embarked in partions megulature, collingly was need a largonet and speculations, got inch, was made a baronet, and left a great fortune. His will was peculiar. It As for legacles to the poor 1 am at a stand, as

as to regard by trade and elegition I give them nothing as for impotents by the hand of God the public ought to maintain them; as for those who have been bred to no calling or estate they should be put upon their kindred Nevertheless to answer custom and to take the sarer side I give £200 the wanting of the parish wherein I die

This will of the founder of his house seems to hrow some light upon the treament that Lord Lansdowne accords to his tenantry in Ireland.

Our correspondent who defends the pury system forgets that the reform hance for by THE UNECONIAN was not to abolish the jury, but to recast and improve it. The system of "struck mies," the dropping of the present absurd switem of requiring a unanimous vertica in civil cases, and the reference of many civil cases to competent lawyers for trial, would be referm. In one state scarcely any civil cases are now tried by juries, except those "sounding in tort." Judge Benedict, of the U. S. district court for stude beneated, of the U. S. charriet court for the Brocklyn district, denounced a jury bitterly once for acquilting a counterfaster in face of the clearest evidence of guilt. Now, it is not necessary, in order to make a strong case, for the wisdom of total abelinence to go outside the verdict of science. The teachings of science concerning the disastrons consequences of the excessive use of alcohol are expirat enough to need no exaggeration. It is not necessary to say that there is no more food in nicohol than there is no astroak of light-nicohol than there is no a stroak of light-nicohol than there is no astroak of light-nicohol than the stroak of light-nicohol than the stroak of light-tage of the stroak of the stroak of the than the deductions of experiment are in favor of the view that maintains that within certain limits (one cance to one and a half onness of absolute alcohol to a healthy man) is evidized and de-stroyed in the ergellem within twenty-four hours, and yields up force which is applied as nervous, muscular and gland force. Alcohol is a useful food in the small quantity which in-creases but does not impair digestion, which quickens the circulation and gland secretion but does not over stimulate All excess is in-jurious, but nevertheless it is true that alcohol is, within certain limits, a food, and that the organism may subsist, for a variable ported, noon it exclusively. Alcohol in small doses is a useful stomachic tonic, specially serviceable in the atomic dyspepsia of the sedentary. The chief utility of alcohol in fevers, acute inflammations and depressing maladies of all kinds is not as a stimulant but as a food, as it furnishe material, easily oxidizable, which can be ap-plied as nervous, muscolar and gland force. Furthermore it stimulates digestion and enables more food to be taken, and thus contributes inlife"

This citation is sufficient to set forth that it is a gross error to say that alcohol has no more food in it than a streak of lightning. As beer, ale and norter contain malt extract, their tive power is greater than spirits or wine. Bartholow says, "it is certainly true that a moderate amount or beer may be taken daily for a lifetime without any obvious impairment of the functions, but excessive use produces with great certainty faity degeneration of the liver and the heart and carly death. These citations show that it is about to speak of there being as much food on the point of a table knife as in eight quar's of beer. So far as the Bavarians and South fermans generally are concerned, it cannot be denied that they drink great qualities of lager beer from early childhood, and are as a race exceptionally strong, healthy, sober as a race exceptionary strong, nearing, some and long lived, while the North German from Posen and comerania, who drinks a good deal of vie potto whisky, full of fusel oil, indisposed like his neighbors, the Russians Dance and Scandinavana to the intemperate. It is certainby true that the wine growing districts of South-ern Europe are f r more temperate in food and drink then the northern countries. The beer-druking Bavarians and wine-drinking Frenchmen are alout equal in warlike virility, the Austrians and Itaians make stordy soldiers The Spatiard-Saré ten perate, but are degraded and deteriorated as a military race from what they were under Alva, Farness and Spinola. Dr. hartholow recognizes that the quantity of alco-hol that a healte, man, in a life of outdoor ex-ercise and labor could consume and easily elim-inate without many to hunself, would be inju-rious to a man of a deniary life. The question of climate and habit of life has much to do with the strength of the alcoholic appellte and the injurious consequences of its indulgence. This probably explains why lager beer is consumed universal to Germany by all classes, old and joung, lea and illiterate, and by both axes, with no fixed ent in jury to the general health, while the salue consumption by Americans while the same consumption by natural would do mischief.

The conclusion of the whole matter is that while sicohol in small quantities is nutritious, while heer taken in moderation is food, neverthank the best to take the state of the best income as the theless it is best to teach total abstinence as the meet prudent rule of life for all people who are absolutely in good health, and leave it to the fector to tell us when we shall be the better to mingle wine and beer with our daily diet. We can terch this as one of the sound rules of pru-dent living, but we cannot teach it by coercion in the shape of prohibition any more than we can club a democrat into a republican or a re-publican into a democrat. To total abstinence by education nobody will offer opposition, but total abstinence by legal prohibition is as im-practicable as the legal prohibition of poverty.
